The foreseen circumstances of an eclipse

Dark shadows
Grow from under leaves.

{
Contrast deepens
Between facing land and surrounding sky. Definition forms to a point of darkest shade;

Hue intensifies
Air to sliver of moon familiar. Inverted crispness
Of surface morning grass;

Volume increase
To point of initial departure. Infinity changing
Degrees of light metres squared;
}

Constant static
Of water falling indifferent.

Andrew Gryf Paterson, 1999.